

Animal Frontiers License to Publish

In order to publish your article we need agreement in writing from all authors listed on your paper. Please take a moment to read the terms of this license, sign the form, and email it to mnilsson@sciencesocieties.org or fax to 608-273-2021. Copies of this form may be submitted independently by the authors, if for example, they are located at different institutions.

Manuscript title: _____

Name and address of corresponding author: _____

Name and address of Copyright owner, if not author(s) _____

By signing this form, you (the author(s) or other copyright owner) agree to grant to us (the publisher) the exclusive right both to reproduce and/or distribute your article (including the abstract) ourselves throughout the world in printed, electronic or any other medium, and in turn to authorize others (including Reproduction Rights Organizations such as the Copyright Licensing Agency and the Copyright Clearance Center) to do the same. You agree that we may publish your article in the journal named above, and that we may distribute it within the journal, on its own, or with other related material.

Your article will be published on an open access basis and be made freely available to the public immediately on publication, under the Creative Commons 'Attribution-Noncommercial-No Derivative Works' 2.0 UK – England and Wales licence (see <http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc-nd/2.0/>).

You promise that the article is your original work, has not previously been published, and is not currently under consideration by another journal. If it contains material which is someone else's copyright, you promise that you have obtained the unrestricted permission of the copyright owner (please attach evidence of this) and that the material is clearly identified and acknowledged within the text. You also promise that the article does not, to the best of your knowledge, contain anything which is libelous, illegal, or infringes anyone's copyright or other rights.

You assert your Moral Right to be identified as the author, and we promise that we will respect your rights as the author(s). That is, we will make sure that your name(s) is/are always clearly associated with the article and, while you do allow us to make necessary editorial changes, we will not make any substantial alteration to your article without consulting you. When the article is accepted, we undertake to publish it as soon as we reasonably can. If it is rejected, this agreement is automatically cancelled and all the rights come back to you. On publication, we will send you a free copy. We will do everything we reasonably can to maximize the visibility of the journal, and of your article within it.

Copyright remains yours, and we will acknowledge this in the copyright line which appears on your article, assuming the work was not written by an employee of the U.S. government as part of his/her official duties (if so, please check the box below). However, you authorize us to act on your behalf to defend your copyright if anyone should infringe it, and to retain half of any damages awarded, after deducting our costs. You also retain the right to use your own article as follows (provided you acknowledge the published original in standard bibliographic citation form plus a DOI link), as long as you do not sell it in ways which would conflict directly with our commercial business interests. You are free to use your article for the internal educational or other purposes of your own institution or company; you may mount the PDF file on your own or your institution's website and post it to free public servers of preprints and/or articles in your subject area; or you may use it, in whole or in part, as the basis for your own further publications or spoken presentations.

This work was written by an employee of the U.S. government as part of his/her official duties; therefore, it is in the public domain.
